SUG EXCOS URGED TO UPHOLD LEGACY OF CONFIDENCE, SELFLESSNESS IN DISCHARGING THEIR DUTIES

The Vice-Chancellor, Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Prof. Charles Esimone, FAS, has implored members of the Student Union Government to maintain the legacy of confidence and selflessness in discharging their duties.

The Vice-Chancellor stated this at the swearing-in ceremony of the newly elected members of the SUG which was held at the old Faculty of Law's moot court.

In his speech, Prof. Esimone urged the new members of the union to uphold the legacy of confidence, peace and selflessness as exercised by the past administration. Prof. Esimone also admonished them to work with the consciousness of time, as every opportunity given must be an opportunity to bring out the best.

While thanking the outgone EXCO members for a service well done, he charged them to keep with the legacy they've built, urging them to always maintain the heart of intercession and good counsel for their successors.

VC GIVES NOD TO REINTRODUCTION OF DRESS CODE

The Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Charles Esimone, FAS, has given a nod for the reintroduction of dress code for members of staff of the University on certain days in the week.

Prof. Esimone stated this at the Carol of Nine Lessons organized by the University. He noted that it is imperative to reintroduce the culture of dress code in the University for bonding, display of uniqueness and to further portray the image of the University in positive light. The Vice-Chancellor advocated for the branded T-Shirt of the University to be worn on Wednesdays while members of staff would dress in their various native attires on Friday.

The ongoing renovations in the University Hostels is geared towards enhancing the Students' comfort and providing the needed hospitality so as to produce students who are worthy both in character, learning, behaviour and imbibed etiquette.

While addressing the University press recently, the Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Charles Esimone, FAS stated that it has become necessary as part of his vision for Project 200 that the students of the institution should have a well structured comfortable environment and place of living as it will indirectly enhance their mental, social and physical well-being while in pursuit of their academic endeavour. Prof. Esimone said that part of the renovation exercise is to ensure that every room in the University hostel

On his part, the Dean of Students Affairs, Engr. Prof. Nonso Achebe, admonished the union leaders to work in harmony and never disrupt the process of the office. He stated that they will not be remembered as union leaders just for being elected but by the achievements they are able to leave in the sands of time.

Reeling out his achievements, the immediate Past President of the union, Comrade Joseph Okafor commended the immediate past Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Joseph Ahaneku, FAS and the incumbent for their support, while urging the new President to build on that which his administration had achieved. In his response, the new president, Comrade Samuel Jude pledged to work for the overall interest of the students.

Prof. Esimone stated that the T-Shirt outfit to be worn Wednesdays is to showcase the University even outside its comfort zone and further describe its uniqueness as an academic institution for creating models and values. The Professor of Biopharmaceutics and Pharmaceutical Microbiology also opined that the native wears will encourage the display of different ideas, values and concept as well as to ensure that the culture of the main tribes in the country do not go into oblivion.

will now have a toilet and bathroom as students are key stakeholders and the reason why the institution was set up in the first instance.

The Vice-Chancellor also posited that part of the renovation exercise will see water supply to all rooms in the hostels to create a positive ambiance and create room to have a world class University of which one of the variables for assessment is the living conditions and welfare of its students. Prof. Esimone admonished students to ensure they protect the facilities put in place in the aftermath of the renovation as the University management have worked hard to ensure that their well-being is given top most priority.

DVC EULOGISES UNIZIK STAFF MEMBERS FOR THEIR DILIGENCE, DEDICATION TO DUTY

Members of Staff of Nnamdi Azikiwe University have been eulogized for their dedication, diligence and commitment to their work in ensuring service delivery. The Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic), Prof. F.J.C. Odibo made this remark recently in his office while speaking to the University's pressmen.

Prof. Odibo stated that the year 2019 had been intense in all spheres of educational endeavour both for academic and administrative process. The Professor of Industrial Microbiology opined that to ensure that progress was achieved, the members of staff put in their effort towards ensuring that the reason for which they were employed as integral members of the University Community was justified.

The scholar posited that the Project 200 of the Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Charles Esimone, FAS, has seen tremendous achievements recorded within six months especially in the aspect of human capacity development and welfarism. He cited a case where academic staff have had appraisals and many promoted to the ranks of Professors and Readers. Prof. Odibo expressed optimism that 2020 will be a year of great achievements to be recorded in the ivory tower, while enjoining all and sundry to key into the Vice-Chancellor's dynamic program geared towards changing the narratives and moving new frontiers.

53RD INAUGURAL LECTURE: PROF. OKONKWOR ADVOCATES FOR ACTIVE REPRESENTATION OF WOMEN IN THE SOCIETY

A lecturer in the Faculty of Education, Prof. Oby Cordelia N.Okonkwor has raised concerns over the active representation of women in the society.

The scholar emphasized on this while delivering the 53rd inaugural lecture of the University.

Prof. Okonkwor spoke on the Gender Issues in Women Participation in Competitive Sport and Leadership to Achieve the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in Nigeria.

She frowned at the marginalization of the female gender and the 'lesser' attention given to women in the country and the African continent.

In proffering solutions to the marginalization of women in sports and leadership, she urged the media to give similar attention to feminine activities, just the same way they give to the male counterparts.

She also encouraged women to participate in actively in sports and assume leadership roles; seeing it as an effective measure to achieving the sustainable development goals (SDGs) in Nigeria.

Decorating the inaugural lecturer, the Vice-Chancellor, Pof. Charles Esimone who was represented by the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Academic), Prof. Frederick Odibo, congratulated Prof. Okonkwo for the bold step taken in standing up for the women as far as sports development in Nigeria is concerned.
